TO-NIGHT'S BATTLE.

Jack Bonner and John Finnegan to Make it Interesting at the Metropolitan Club—Promises the Best Bout Ever Seen Here.

What bids certain to be the finest battle ever seen in Wheeling will occur this evening at the Metropolitan Club. Jack Bonner, with few equals among the country's 160-pound men, and John Finnegan, one of the best heavy-weights Pittsburgh ever produced, will meet in a contest scheduled to go twenty rounds. This superb card is equal to any ever put on by the crack New York clubs, and a record-breaking attendance is confidently looked for. The advance sale of tickets warrants this expectation.

Bonner is a drawing card in himself. He was seen here about two years ago in a battle famous for its speed and cleverness by both men. Nick Burley, of California, was his opponent then, he going down before Bonner in the thirteenth round, after a most stubborn argument. Since then there has been a frequently expressed desire to see Bonner in the local ring, and Bonner has been anxious to return, he saying that he was warmly impressed with Wheeling people's treatment of him. Bonner achieved an unenviable reputation last winter in his fight with Tommy West, the claim being made that Bonner used oil of mustard on his gloves, but Bonner stoutly maintains that the stuff was accidentally spilled on the gloves by his trainer, and that he suffered more from its fumes than West.

John Finnegan is well known in Wheeling, and he has done his training here for the last three or four weeks. He got the decision over the late Tom Lanning, of Louisville, on a bout in the thirteen round, in a contest pulled off by the short-lived Ariel club, at the Pythian Castle. Finnegan is a young giant, a glutton for punishment and something of a punisher himself. While he hasn't the experience of Bonner, he has other qualities that will hold him to the good, and he will give his friends a great run for their money. Finnegan wants to be tried out against an eastern crack, and he means to make the most of to-night's opportunity. The decision will be of more value to Finnegan than treble the winner's percentage.

There is no reason why this should not be the greatest contest ever seen here. It will be for blood throughout, and those who like to see the real thing will get their fill. The preliminary will be for ten rounds, between Bill Birch, of Pittsburgh, and John Porter, of Bellaire. Both colored heavy-weights, and it will be amusing, if nothing else. The preliminary will start at 8:30, the main event an hour later.

Bonner arrived in Wheeling last night at 11:30 o'clock, and straightway went to bed to get all the rest possible. Aside from a blind bolt on the left side of his neck he is in elegant trim. If he wins to-night he will fight "Australian Jimmy" Ryan, next Saturday night, in St. Louis.

FOOT BALL.

That was a pretty game the Wheelings and Washingtons played Saturday at the Island ball park, despite the rain that fell continually and the handicap of a muddy gridiron. Washington had a well balanced aggregation and would have shown to even better advantage if the ground was dry, the conditions favoring the heavier Wheeling team, which, however, would have won, wet or dry. But it is a truism that a slippery field aids the heavier team. Washington showed the effects of training and was up in all points of the game, and the victory might have been the other way hadn't "Bob" Edwards stacked up the strongest eleven procurable. The visitors duplicated the favorable impression made a year ago, when also they brought the rain. They have become favorites on a Wheeling football field, for their clean, gentlemanly playing. Saturday they were trimmed to 11 to 6 in a very snappy game, and they were decidedly dangerous toward the close of the second half, when punting was freely indulged in. Good work was done by all the Wheeling team, that of J. Thomas, Coss, the three Edwards boys and Mathis deserving special mention. Will Edwards made both touchdowns.

Next Saturday, Franklin college comes to Wheeling, and it is devoutly hoped that the weather man will be kind. The Washington game was a heavy financial loss, which added to others suffered this season, would discourage most people. There were indications for a big jam of people last

It's Scrofula

Those little kernels in the neck! Has your child ever had them? You know sometimes they swell, become painful, soften, and end in a scar. Give such a child Scott's Emulsion, just as soon as the kernels appear. The little swellings will grow less and less and soon will disappear altogether. Continue the Emulsion until the child has good flesh and a healthy color.

Saturday had the weather been right, but the rain insisted on falling at the wrong time, and the loyal fans that contributed their presence deserve liberal praise.

A lighter team will face Franklin college, November 18, and Bethany college, a week later, and if the visiting teams get dangerous there will be heavier substitutes in the second halves. The management desires to give all the aspirants a show in the games. There will be practice every afternoon this week at the usual hour.

WHEELING WINS

The First Series in the Inter-City Match with Pittsburgh—It was Very Easy for the Locals—Averages of the Bowlers.

The Wheeling series of the inter-city bowling contest between Wheeling and Pittsburgh teams was won by the home team at Fette's alleys in a walk, the locals having 623 pins the best of it. The Pittsburgh boys put up a poor argument in all but the last game, in which they started in the lead but were passed by the Wheelings on the second frame, and the latter gained in every frame.

The Pittsburghers lost the series, but left a good impression on the large attendance in the gentlemanly manner in which they took their defeat.

After the games, Captain Charles C. Vey, of the visitors, invited the entire audience, to accompany the Wheeling boys on their trip to Pittsburgh next Sunday, insuring them all a good time. Following is the score:

AMUSEMENTS.

Once a year, there gathers in India, at the little city of Simla, a congregation of spiritualists and mediums from all parts of the civilized world, who give seances, for the betterment of each other and the gullibility of the believers. Magician Kellar has seen several of these seances and when he comes to this city to-day, will construct a cabinet on the stage in full light, and in the presence of a committee of citizens, reproduce, purely by natural means, all of the so-called phenomena accomplished by the great mediums who journey yearly to Simla. Kellar will exploit the marvelous rope tying tests of the Davenport Brothers, with whom he was associated many years ago. No one has ever yet succeeded in tying Kellar with ropes, so that he could not get free in less time than it required to tie him. He will also offer a dozen full stage illusions, illustrating the most mysterious and phenomenal achievements of the famed magicians of India, together with a new programme of magic, at the Opera House, this evening.

"A Country Merchant."

In "A Country Merchant," besides the pretty play itself, might be mentioned comical antics of "A Country Merchant" quartette, the ludicrous "Rube Trio," the deep bass of Arthur Snow, the rich soprano of Mercelia Edmond, and the risque dances of the irresistible young soubrette, Miss Lillie Havre. Fun and comedy is the order of things in "A Country Merchant," and Mr. Cowles has certainly succeeded in placing before the public an entertainment that is proving highly satisfactory in every particular, winning highest praise from both press and public everywhere. No pains-taking theatre-goer can afford to miss "A Country Merchant," at the Grand Opera House, the first half of this week.

One of the Greatest Plays.

For the first time in this city, on Tuesday evening, November 14, at the Opera House, Mr. Charles Frohman will present Mr. David Belasco's remarkably successful play, "Zaza." By those who have witnessed it, this play receives the most enthusiastic praise. It is called a perfect play. It is said, it touches every motion known to the human mind, and its transitions from laughter to tears come and go like the sunshine and shadow caused by April clouds. The play has been one of the greatest, if not the greatest of New York successes during a time when such plays as "The Little Minister," "The Christian," and "Cyrano de Bergerac," have set the pace at which successes should go in order to march in the front rank of the public's favoritism.

A Contented Woman.

Of all the many plays that Charles Hoyt has turned out in the past, from all accounts, none ever appealed more strongly to the masses than "A Contented Woman," which is reported as having broken all records. That "A Contented Woman" has wonderful drawing qualities is evidenced by the fact that at every performance the "Standing Room Only" sign has been brought into use. The "Woman" seems to be just what the theatre-going public want. It is an entertainment replete with sparkling music, witty dialogue, novel dances, up-to-date specialties, and a bevy of the prettiest girls ever seen on a local stage. The cast is headed by Miss Belle Archer. "A Contented Woman" will be presented at the Opera House next Friday evening, November 17.

"The Carpetbagger."

Many of the most successful American plays have been those which have found favor with the public because they told a story of southern people, of southern life. So it is with "The Carpetbagger," the new comedy which Tim Murphy will present at Opera House, for a matinee Saturday and at night. The scenes are all laid in Jackson, Miss., and most of all of the characters are southern people. "The Carpetbagger" is not only a beautiful play, but an interesting play, because it tells a true story of the south, just after the rebellion. Mr. Murphy has a delightful character to impersonate and it is said of him that he has made the hit of his life in the part of Melville Crance, the governor of Mississippi.

"Finnigan's Ball."

One of the best of the musical farce companies is said to be that which will be seen in "Finnigan's Ball." Many really funny situations are described in connection with the offering, while the opportunities for the interpolation of specialties are numerous. The management has engaged an organization quite as able from a vaudeville viewpoint as in any other way, including Moran and Wesley, Delmore and Wilson, Fred De Noe, R. Blinn Owen, George Florida, "The Modoc Four," Mae Trumbull, Fannie Trumbull, Mona Carrington, the Curtis Sisters, Julia Gifford, Annie Goodwin, Mildred Lowell, Charlotte Vidot and others. At the Grand the last half of this week.
